

AMERICAN REAL ESTATE EDUCATORS PRESENTS Foreclosure Professional Agent Designation

The FPA course will teach everything you need to know about foreclosures and how to become a Foreclosure/REO selling and listing agent who has more business than they can handle. American Real Estate Educators has partnered with companies that provide hundreds of leads a month to each FPA who utilizes the strategic methods prescribed in this cutting edge training course. We are so sure this course will revolutionize your business that we are offering a 100% money back guarantee if you don't earn at least ten times the amount that you paid for this course in twelve months time. This course will be a game changer for your real estate career.

You'll learn how to:

- Identify what foreclosure is and isn't both locally and nationwide
- Separate fact from fiction in foreclosure and pre-foreclosure properties
- Become confidently competent in both understanding and explaining the legal process of foreclosure
- Identify the dangers of purchasing property at foreclosure sale
- Understand how lenders internally manage both pre-foreclosure and foreclosure properties
- How short sale negotiations, bankruptcies, and lender decisions can impact a foreclosure
- Understand the role of an asset manager and how to communicate effectively with any asset manager
- Effectively negotiate the purchase of an REO property
- Set yourself apart from other agents in obtaining REO listings

TJ Hollis is a practicing real estate attorney and partner in a leading real estate law firm who has facilitated the close of tens of millions of dollars of foreclosed properties in his career and has the inside track to what these banks and lenders really want when dealing with buyers. TJ's experience is such a bonus to the course and all real estate professionals will find him to be a wealth of knowledge.
